Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 08 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Snow, heavy in east. Bitterly cold winds, coastal gales.

Today:
Snow will become more showery, with further accumulations and drifting. Strong easterly winds, with coastal gales at first. Feeling bitterly cold. Maximum temperatures close to freezing. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tonight:
Further snow showers will move west across the region on a moderate easterly breeze, with accumulations to all levels. Feeling very cold overnight with a hard frost and icy conditions. Minimum temperature -3 deg C (27 deg F).

Tuesday:
Wintry showers continuing but becoming fewer. Icy stretches remain likely with bitterly cold fresh easterly winds. Some winter sunshine between showers. Another hard overnight frost. Maximum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Wintry showers initially on Wednesday, becoming light then clearing later. Drier and bright on Thursday, with a risk of snow again Friday. Bitterly cold with hard frosts and icy stretches.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.